

Business Financial Publishing Presents

Investor Research Center

Investor Research Center (www.investorresearchcenter.com) is a website providing individual investors with comprehensive and free investment research from investment firms and publishers alike.

Research available through Investor Research Center spans a wide array of topics including Alternative Energy Stocks, China investing, emerging markets, oil and energy, precious metals, small cap stocks, micro cap stocks, forex, and mutual funds investing. Publishers and investment firms make a sample of their content available to our individual investors free of charge, in order to gain valuable exposure and generate thousands of valuable sales leads Business Financial Publishing is seeking out partnerships with the most outstanding names in the financial world to market their proprietary research to individual investors through this engaging web site.

Investor Research Center will present your investment report to our audience on a dedicated landing page specific to your company; giving your investment advisory the strongest brand positioning possible. Users choose their desired reports from our selection of top-notch research publications, when a person downloads the report, they become a lead.

Most importantly, Investor Research Center will collect dedicated leads on your behalf. These highly qualified leads will no doubt become a cornerstone of your marketing base. The opportunity is priced on a CPL (cost per lead) basis, with minimal risk for your advertising dollars.
